THE WESKUS

Every country in the world has a West Coast but only South Africa has a WESKUS, which lies within the Western Cape Province and has 5 extremely diverse regions within its borders. The colour coding shown here is used throughout this guide to place the towns (which are listed alphabetically), within the different regions.

These different regions each have their own unique attractions which include the beautiful, and at times desolate, coast with its magnificent lagoons, and numerous small fishing villages, stretching from Bokbaai in the south to Brand-se-Baai in the north; experience the arid beauty of the Knersvlakte and the vineyards along the Olifantsrivier in the Namaqua West Coast - Matzikama region.

The Citrus and rooibos farms, magnificent mountains with spectacular rock formations and rock paintings in the Cederberg.

Bokkomlaan, a birding paradise and extreme adventure activities in the Bergrivier region; five million year old fossils, a Ramsar site and exciting water sport in the West Coast Peninsula - Saldanha Bay area; and the high quality grain, olive and wine farms of the Swartland.

The scenic beauty of the coast is complimented by its plentiful sea life like seafood and fish pulled from the cold waters of the Atlantic, offering the visitor a rich and unique culinary experience at the many open air seafood restaurants.

Migrating whales visit the coastal waters from July to December and Haviside Dolphins (named after Captain Haviside), are often sighted along the coast. The area is also a birdwatcher's paradise, with traveling waders, seabirds and birds of prey.

Sipping soetes, chewing on a bokkom and watching the locals dance "die Riel", transforms any visitor into a real "Weskusser".

BERGRIVIER AURORA

A charming village set against the Piketberg Mountains in the Sandveld

Aurora is situated midway between Piketberg (N7) and Velddrif (R27), approximately 50km from both towns and a scenic 185km's drive from Cape Town. Aurora is known for its Sandveld houses, pretty town square and kaleidoscopic fields of wildflowers in spring.

The first geodetic (triangulated) survey was carried out in 1751 by the Abbé de La Caille, between Strand Street in Cape Town, the mountain at Riebeeck West, and an outbuilding on the farm Klipfontein. This site, on the outskirts of Aurora, has been declared a national monument.

BIRD WATCHING

SWARTLAND BIRDING ROUTE

The Route begins some 50 km north of Cape Town with 14 birding routes to follow and it is between the towns of Malmesbury, Darling, Yzerfontein, Moorreesburg/Koringberg, Riebeeck West and Riebeeck Kasteel. The area has a varied landscape from sea, coastal plains, wild flowers (including Fynbos), to wheat fields on the fertile plain, interrupted by vineyards, olive farms and mountains. Well known in this region is the endemic Renosterbos-veld (directly translated as rhinoceros bush) where the name “Swartland” or as Jan van Riebeeck called it “Het Zwarte Land” (the Black Land) derives from. These dark grey shrubs and bushes turn almost black in summer, resembling the color of Rhino hide. Today less than 2% of Renosterveld vegetation types are formally conserved, and these are some of the most threatened types of vegetation in the world. It is said that you can find at least 250 bird species in this vast differentiated landscape. This will provide birders, beginners to serious twitchers, with a diverse range of birds to be ticked. Birds like the rare Black Harrier the endangered South African National bird, the Blue Crane also the Large-billed Lark, Southern Black Korhaan, Horus Swift, Chestnut-branded Plover and African Black Oystercatcher all can be seen on the routes which will generate significant interest for both local and international tourists.

BERGRIVIER

Where the Bergrivier meanders into the Atlantic Ocean on the Weskus of Southern Africa is the town Velddrif. The tidal action between the ocean and the river, with its estuary and tidal flats, creates some of the multiple habitats which makes this one of the very best birding areas on the Weskus of Southern Africa. The Southern African Bird Atlas Project 2 (SABAP2) records bird species according to strict protocols. Over 220 bird species have officially been observed in this area since 2007. The observation of species is dictated by the seasons, with summer always having the highest number of species. Winter months have their own interesting surprises with some migrant birds such as Common Whimbrel, Grey Plover and young Curlew Sandpipers not leaving for the northern hemisphere because of the mild winter conditions. A variety of waders, such as Plovers and Sandpipers, can usually be observed at low tide. There are a number of easily accessible viewing points such as Laaiplek Harbour (-32.7703; 18.1488) and at the adjoining SA Fisheries Museum

BIRD WATCHING

(-32.7710; 18.1514). Expect to see Kelp, Hartlaub's and Grey-headed Gulls, African Black Oystercatchers on the far bank of the river, Greater and Lesser Flamingo, Grey Heron and Cape Cormorant of which over 100 000 have been counted flying low over the Berg River coming in to roost in the late afternoon. On the border between Laaiplek and Port Owen is Rooibaai (-32.7786; 18.1508) where one can sometimes be surprised by unexpected waders at low tide. On the eastern side of the Carinus Bridge is a wooden walkway (-32.7869 ; 18.1743) which takes one closer to Greater and Lesser Flamingo with different duck species at high tide and waders at low tide. At the famous Bokkomlaan (-32.7876; 18.1869) you can park your vehicle and stroll along looking at Great White Pelicans, or relax at one of the eateries. Enjoy the views and look out for the African Marsh-Harrier over the reeds as well as Kingfishers, Grey Heron, African Darter, Black-winged Stilt, Gulls and Terns. Leisurely boat trips on the river are available, with the possibility of observing more bird species. Contact the Velddrif Visitors Information Centre for details on 022 783 1821.

Access to some of the salt mines and farms east of the Carinus Bridge is only possible by prior arrangement with the property owners. There may be costs involved. A list of birds in the direct area is available at Velddrif Visitors Information Centre.

BIRD ISLAND - Lambert's Bay (IBA SA100)

Bird island is linked to the shore by means of a breakwater wall from the harbour. Viewing is from a state-of-the-art bird hide designed to blend in with the rocks. It is an important breeding site for Cape Gannets, whose sheer numbers are a sight to behold. The island is also life important for other marine birds, Kelp Gull, Cape and Crowned Cormorant, Common and Swift Tern. Cell: 076 506 6111 - Yves

RIETVLEI WETLAND RESERVE & MILNERTON LAGOON (IBA SA 111)

Rietvlei Wetland Reserve is situated along the R27, just 15km from Cape Town and encompasses Milnerton Lagoon and Flamingo Vlei. Some 173 species include White-backed Ducks, which are seasonal visitors. 8 information panels and a hide overlook the pans. Tel: 021 557 5509

OLIFANTSRIVIER ESTUARY (IBA SA 099)

The estuary and its associated wetlands are earmarked for future Ramsar listing. The over 200 species include Flamingo, Sandpipers, and various migratory and resident waders. Papendorp overlooks the Olifant's River Estuary where a variety of marine birds can be seen along the hiking trail between Strandfontein, Ebenhaezer, Papendorp and Doringbaai. Tel: 027 201 3376. Namaqua Westcoast had only 76 official bird species but after Namaqua Bird Club was established it grew to 245 species!! Our unique landscape of fynbos, mountains and sea regions like nama-karoo and knersvlakte are home to a huge variety of birds.

ROCHER PAN MARINE AND NATURE RESERVE

The reserve has a mainly seasonal vlei (wetland), which is dry between March and June. The adjacent section of the Atlantic Ocean is a Marine Reserve. The reserve is a sanctuary for one of South Africa's most endangered coastal birds, the African Black Oystercatcher, as well as the flocks of the Greater Flamingo. A popular attraction is the whales that migrate into the bay between July and December.

BIRD WATCHING

SAS SALDANHA NATURE RESERVE

The reserve is controlled by the South African Defense Force in Saldanha Bay. Hiking trails are open daily, but the best time to visit is after winter rains through to mid-summer. Approval is required and booking for groups is essential. Tel: 022 702 3523

VELORENVLEI - ELANDS BAY / REDELINGHUYS (IBA SA 103)

Velorenvlei is the largest freshwater lake, closest to the sea and drains into the Atlantic Ocean at Elands Bay. This 30km vlei is a Ramsar registered site and is renowned for rich and diverse bird-life, such as African Spoonbill, African Fish Eagle, European Bee-eater, Caspian Tern and Great White Pelican among others. Redelinghuys is situated in the upper reaches and is an ideal location for bird-watchers. Tel: 022 962 1650

VREDENBURG / SALDANHA GOLF COURSE

There is a dam on the northern boundary of the golf course; access to be cleared with the club manager. A colony of Black-crowned Night-Heron has settled here, while Yellow-billed Duck, Red-billed Teal, Cape Shoveler, Red knobbed Coot and breeding South African Shelduck can be seen on the dam. Tel: 022 715 3003

WEST COAST FOSSIL PARK

Managed by the Iziko (South African Museum), the Park is the most important worldwide site for fossils dating back five million years. Over 80 species of mammals and over 80 species of birds have been found. Regular tours are undertaken. A range of habitats to explore includes two dams (one with a hide) to attract waterfowl; over 140 species can be spotted. Tel: 022 766 1606

WEST COAST NATIONAL PARK (IBA SA 105)

The Park is an IBA and the Langebaan Lagoon, a Ramsar Site. Three hides overlook the lagoon. There is a hide at Abrahamskraal as well as overlooking a waterhole. Birding is determined by the tides, Seeberg is best at high-tide, while the two Geelbek hides are best at mid-tide to low tide. In the Cape West Coast Biosphere Reserve, the "R27 Tourist Hub" office at the Farm Stall on the Darling/ Yzerfontein crossroad, and a tide table and explanation of how to calculate the best conditions for the Park and the Berg River, has been established by The West Coast Bird Club. The Park is an important breeding colony for sea birds — on Malgas, Jutten, Schaapen and Marcus Islands near the mouth of Saldanha Bay. Malgas Island is home to one of only six colonies of Cape Gannets in the world, where tens of thousands of pairs breed and may be visited accompanied by a Parks guide. Tel: 022 772 2144

PENINSULA CAPE COLUMBINE NATURE RESERVE

The entrance to Cape Columbine Nature Reserve is five kilometers from the quaint fishing village of Paternoster and reaches across 263ha of rocky coastline dotted with inlets and coves. This last manually-controlled lighthouse in South Africa, built in 1936 on Castle Rock, is usually the first lighthouse to be seen by passing ships from Europe. The light stands at a height of 80m above sea level and casts a beam visible for about 50km.

Cape Columbine Lighthouse offers:

- Tours of the Lighthouse
- Curios and memorabilia on sale
- Self Catering Accommodation
- Conference Facility
- The large premises make it ideal for special events such as weddings, with plenty of space for marquee tents

Lighthouse Tariffs:

R16 Adults | R10 Pensioners | R10 Students | R8 Kids under 12

The campsite at the popular Tietiesbaai has well-maintained ablution facilities equipped with solar panels to ensure warm showers.

As a protected environment, there are rules and regulations to adhere to in respect of fishing, crayfishing and visitor numbers.

Take in the peaceful surroundings and meander along pristine hiking trails, or sip a sundowner while admiring the unforgettable sunsets.

NATURALLY CEDERBERG WILDERNESS AREA

The Cederberg Wilderness Area lies some 200km north of Cape Town, stretching from the Middelberg Pass at Citrusdal to north of the Pakhuis Pass at Clanwilliam and encompassing some 71 000ha of rugged, mountainous terrain. The Cederberg was proclaimed a wilderness area in 1973, and has grown into a popular destination for hardy hikers and mountaineers and is renowned for its spectacular landscapes and rock formations including the Wolfberg Arch and Cracks, Maltese Cross and Stadsaal Caves.

The 12 000 hectare Matjiesrivier Nature Reserve is situated on the drier eastern boundary of the Cederberg mountains. This rugged nature reserve includes the famous Stadsaal rock formations and some excellent examples of San rock art paintings which vary in age between 1000 and 5000 years. Small game like grey rhebok, klipspringers, duiker and grysbok are fairly common in the Cederberg. The leopard is the Cederberg's largest predator and is fairly common although very shy. Smaller predators include african wild cat, lynx, bat-eared fox, aardwolf and cape fox'. More than 100 bird species occur here, with black eagle, rock kestrel and jackal buzzard being the most common raptors. About 16 snake species are found in the Cederberg of which the most common being the berg adder, puff adder and black spitting cobra, The armadillo lizard is one of the endemic reptiles found here.

Vegetation in the Cederberg Wilderness Area is predominantly mountain fynbos and the eye-catching purple-blue ridderspoor, rooibos tea and buchu grow against the lower cliffs. The Clanwilliam cedar grows in the so-called cedar zone against cliffs and overhangs at altitudes of more than 1 000m above sea level. The endemic Snow Protea is perhaps the most attractive plant on the highest peaks - it is very scarce and only found at a few sites in the wilderness area. Matjiesrivier occupies a transitional zone between the fynbos and lowland succulent Karoo vegetation types. The drier conditions and finegrained clay soils of the western slopes of the reserve also support central mountain renosterveld which is dominated by members of the daisy family.

The Gateway to the Cederberg

Nestled on the banks of the Olifantsrivier, about 180 km, and less than two hour's drive from Cape Town on the N7, lies this bustling rural town, set amongst citrus orchards and vineyards at the foothills of the majestic Cederberg Mountains. Citrusdal is the centre of the Western Cape citrus industry. It is world renowned for its superior quality citrus fruits, wines and herbal fynbos products such as rooibos tea and buchu. Holidaying here is an exhilarating experience for those seeking peace and quiet or pursuing nature related activities.

CEDERBERG CLANWILLIAM

Home to the world renowned Rooibos tea and Cederberg Mountain range

Clanwilliam is tucked in at the foot of the majestic Cederberg mountain range, about 230km from Cape Town. Steeped in history, it is surrounded by magnificent scenery and is known for the endemic Rooibos tea which is cultivated here, as well as a wealth of Mediterranean and sub-tropical trees, flowers, fruits and nuts that thrive in the fertile soils. Clanwilliam is also home to the highest vineyards in South Africa, which produce award winning wines.

The Ramskop Nature Reserve and Biedouw Valley offers a variety of wildflowers that burst into bloom after the winter rains between August and September, creating a spectacular flower display that draws visitors from far and wide. The Olifants River and Jan Dissels River embrace the town that is guarded over by the towering Cederberg.

The Cederberg Wilderness Area comprises 7 100 hectares and is a remote, pristine area with breathtaking scenery that includes cape fynbos and dramatic rock formations.

The Cederberg Mountains is one of South Africa's most spectacular Natural Heritage Sites and custodian of the world's largest open-air Bushman Rock-art gallery.

REGULATIONS COASTAL AND MARINE CONSERVATION

No person is allowed to use a vehicle in the coastal area without a valid permit or exemption issued by the relevant authority.

Coastal area is, as defined by the National Environmental Management Integrated Coastal Management Act, 2008 (Act No. 24 of 2008) (ICMA), Regulation 496: Control of use of vehicles in the coastal area, GN 37761, 27 June 2014: a) coastal public property; b) littoral active zone; and c) any area between the high-water mark and up to 500 meters landwards of the high-water mark where dunes, wetlands, mangroves, lagoons, salt marshes, salt pans, mud flats occur, but not exceeding the boundary of the coastal zone as determined by the Act.

Contravention of these regulations constitutes a criminal offence. Convicted offenders may be fined up to a maximum of R500 000 per vehicle per offence, or imprisonment for a maximum of two years, or both a fine and imprisonment, and their vehicles may be confiscated. Please report all offenders to the local based Fisheries Control Officers (FCO's) based within the coastal towns mentioned below.

All Environmental Crimes can also be reported to the Hotline at 0800 205 005 and to Mr. Mzondeleli Dlulane from Dept. of Environment, Forestry and Fisheries (DEFF) at Tel: 021 814 8055 | 083 318 6647 | 071 605 2201

MARINE CONSERVATION

Marine conservation is our heritage. Please take note of the following:

Recreational Fishing Permits are available from any Post Office. Adhere to bag limits and use marine resources judiciously. Do not litter.

WEST COAST ROCK LOBSTER

The 2020/21 WCRL recreational fishing effort is limited to 12 days between 28 November 2020 and 3 April 2021. Fishing will be allowed as follows:

28 - 29 Nov 2020; 12 - 13 Dec 2020; 26 - 27 Dec 2020;

1 - 2 Jan 2021; 9 - 10 Jan 2021; 2 - 3 Apr 2021.

All dates only open from the hours 08:00 until 16:00.

The daily bag limit is four (4) West Coast Rock Lobsters per person, in possession of a legal permit, with a minimum size of 80mm carapace length.

Fishing time is from 08:00 to 16:00 for all periods. No person catching West Coast Rock Lobster with a recreational West Coast Rock Lobster permit may sell it to another party. All West Coast Rock Lobster caught, collected or transported must be kept in a whole state. A maximum of four (4) West Coast Rock Lobsters per permit holder may be transported per day, therefore a maximum of 20 West Coast Rock Lobsters per vehicle may be transported, provided all five (5) permit holders are present. The minimum age for obtaining a West Coast Rock Lobster permit is 12 years. There are no age restrictions regarding all other recreational permits. Recreational West Coast Rock Lobster permits are available from any Post Office.

Destination Darling

Easily accessible along the R27 and onto the R315, just follow the country roads through sweeping vineyards and past spectacular wildflower displays in Spring.

This small Swartland town offers a peaceful retreat from hectic city life, but that's not to say that there should not be much to do during your breakaway. Join us for the regular village happenings and festivals. Darling has a variety of tourism offerings that will appeal to all members of the family.

Energetic visitors can participate in an exhilarating MTB ride or Trail run, enjoy a leisurely round of golf or a sociable game of bowls, book a horse riding experience or a game drive.

Explore the town on foot, linger at a coffee shop or restaurant and watch the world go by. Shop for original gifts and delicious local food products. Enjoy craft beer at the Darling Brew and titillate your taste buds at one of the wineries along the Darling Wine Route.

Enjoy comedy, drama and cabaret at Evita se Perron, visit Tannie Evita's Nauseum and browse through the best little book store. Learn more about the historic origins of the town at Darling Museum, a charming reflection of 19th century living. Gain a fascinating insight into the traditions of South Africa's first people at !Khwa ttu, the San Heritage Centre.

Darling is perfect for ... romantic retreats, re-energising your soul, escaping the rat race, midweek/weekend breaks and family getaways.

NAMAQUA WESTCOAST DORINGBAAI

Doringbaai is a picturesque fishing hamlet that was once an anchorage from where provisions were transported to in-country towns by camel train.

In 1925 the North Bay Canning Company built a crayfish packing factory in the town. The factory closed in the 1970s and has since been converted into a business hub that includes a restaurant, a winery with wine tasting facilities and a function venue. The Abalone Farm was created in 2011 & its 1st farming operations started in 2013. The farm is an initiative between The Doringbaai Development Trust & entrepreneurs of the area. Other prominent buildings include the Doringbaai lighthouse that was built in 1963, and the Roman Catholic Church.

Ebenhaezer and Papendorp are two fishing hamlets situated on the Olifants River.

One of the oldest towns in the district, Ebenhaezer was founded by the Rhenish Missionary Society as a mission station in 1834. It was originally the site of a Khoi kraal. When James Backhouse visited Ebenhaezer in March 1840 he wrote that several people were living in huts built of reeds and mud, and that residents were building a windmill on a low hill outside the town. Today these old clay buildings and riethuise add to the town's unique charm. The town's residents and farmers benefit from the Olifants River Irrigation Scheme, and make a living farming cattle and sheep, and grow cash crops like lucerne, beans and coriander.

Papendorp lies nearby, at the mouth of the Olifants River, and was originally known as Viswater. Fishing boats, nets and bakkoms are characteristic of its cultural landscape. Residents also make a living harvesting salt from pans that may be visited by appointment.

Activities in the area include the Bird Hyde Walk and the Labyrinth of Memories.

Bird Watching Wild Flowers (in season)

Nestled between the Atlantic Ocean and the Bobbejaan Mountain lies this hotspot for surfers around the world.

Elandsbaai is 95km northwest of Piketberg and 70km from Velddrif and this is where the magnificent Verlorenvlei, a natural marsh and sanctuary for 240 bird species, flows into the Atlantic Ocean. The bay is a prime whale and dolphin viewing venue between July and December when migrating Southern Right whales and Heavyside dolphins can be seen. Throughout the year, playful dolphins can be seen 'surfing the waves' and, on occasion, Orcas (killer whales) can also be seen.

The Bobbejaan Mountain cliffs project into the sea at Baboon Point and a large rock shelter in the cliff is adorned with primitive San paintings. Excavations at a rock shelter in the cliffs indicate habitation by man 15 000 years ago. Elands Bay Cave is a rock art site dating back 10 000 years. Hiking on top of the Bobbejaan Mountain offers stunning views over the ocean (south north). Stay over or enjoy lunch at the charming Elandsbay Hotel.

As part of the West Coast floral phenomenon, the area is transformed into a multi-coloured tapestry during August and September.

FLOWER POWER

Spring is a magical time of year, along South Africa's pristine West Coast when all the coastal towns and inland villages, mountains and fields are ablaze with an endless kaleidoscope of wild flowers.

This natural phenomenon draws thousands of visitors from around the world between August and September each year. To experience the most remarkable displays, visit Postberg in the West Coast National Park, where 80 species of flowering plants, found nowhere else in the world, are endemic to the region.

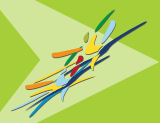

One of the summer-flowering West Coast plants is the Kukumakranka with its highly aromatic, fleshy fruit that is used for making kukumakranka brandy. Traditionally an alcoholic infusion is made from a few ripe fruits in a bottle of brandy or traditional witblits. Yellow and pink hongerblom, white rain daisies, pink wild cinerarias, orange gousblom, yellow nemesia, blue flax, white and red aandblommetjies, brown wildesalie, large orange or white stars, waterblommetjies in the small dams, cream roemenaggie, purple skilpadblom and rare orange spiloxene - the list is endless!

Visit the wild flower shows in Clanwilliam, Darling and Hopefield where more than 200 wild flower-and plant species are displayed, as found in the Cederberg, Renosterveld, Sandveld, Rietveld and wetland areas.

Join in the fun during the Cape West Coast Peninsula Rainbow Flower Celebration from July to September that includes the towns of Langebaan, Hopefield, Saldanha, Vredenburg, St Helena Bay, Paternoster, Jacobs Bay and Britannia Bay. Maps of the coastal and inland flower routes are available from any of the local tourism information offices. Enquire about guided tours that are also available.

During the flower season between August and October each year a weekly flower report is sent out as a flower hotline and is available to keep visitors up to date with where the best places are to see flowers.

GANZEKRAAL

A gateway close to Cape Town

The Ganzekraal coastal Resort is the ideal weekend hideaway, for spending a relaxing holiday away from it all.

The surrounding scenery, peace and tranquillity make it a prime conference, team-building and wedding venue. Just off the R27, Ganzekraal hugs the fresh Atlantic Ocean.

At your disposal are 28 sea-facing, fully equipped, 4-6 sleeper, self-catering chalets, a lapa, bar, restaurant and a tidal pool.

The air-conditioned conference hall has bar facilities and seats 80 delegates. It is fully-equipped with video and overhead projector, whiteboards and flip charts.

The self-catering restaurant overlooks the ocean, seats 100 persons, has its own bar, kitchen and service facilities for a carvery or menu option.

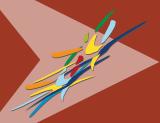

The deck overlooks the beautiful, unspoiled sandy beach and an enclosed braai facility is ideal for an outdoor West Coast seafood meal.

The Resort is secure and can only be entered through a gate that is manned round the clock.

BERGRIVIER GOEDVERWACHT

A celebration to the survival of the ("Kloewers")

Goedverwacht is nestled in between evergreen Mountain Fynbosch off the R399 between Piketberg and Velddrif. The village was established as a cattle farm in 1810 by an ex soldier, Hendrik Schalk Burger. He bequeathed the farm to his former slave, Maniesa from Bengale and her five children, who had remained on the farm following the emancipation of the slaves, with the proviso that, when the last of her children had passed away, the farm be sold and the revenue divided among their descendants. In 1889 the land was sold to the Moravian Church for 750 pounds, who established a Mission Station and has a fascinating story. The Church building, modern houses and beautiful gardens boast examples of fine local craftsmanship, while the tranquility of the village is enhanced by evergreen trees, a diversity of wildbirds along the main road, beautiful historical buildings, including a Mission Store & Watermill.

The fertile valley, rich in history lends itself to agricultural activities. The Snoek en Patatfees is Goedverwacht's main annual event and is held in celebration of the survival of the inhabitants of Goedverwacht ("Kloewers").

CEDERBERG GRAAFWATER

The Heerenlogent cave which was used by travelers as overnight accommodation in the 18th century is 25 km from Graafwater on the Vredendal road.

Graafwater lies midway between Clanwilliam and Lambert's Bay and was built as a railway junction in 1910, for the transportation of agricultural products from Clanwilliam and seafood products from Lambert's Bay. The Heerenlogement ('gentleman's lodging') is a renowned cave found about 25 kilometers from Graafwater on the north road to Vredendal. The walls of this rock shelter were used to carve the names or initials of travelers who stayed over in the cave and about 170 carvings have been recorded in this rocky 'visitors book'. An account of the shelter was documented by Cape Governor Hendrik Swellengrebel who passed this way in 1737. He also mentioned a wild fig tree growing out of a cleft at the back of the cave that can be seen to this day. The Heerenlogement has been declared a national monument.

NAMAQUA WESTCOAST HARDEVELD

True gems of experience await the traveller who ventures into this arid, sparsely populated hinterland where donkey carts the means of transport for many families. The Hardeveld lies north of the Knersvlakte; it comprises Bitterfontein as its commercial centre and the settlements of Molsvlei, Stofkraal, Nuwerus, Rietpoort and Putsekloof.

Where the Hardeveld meets the ocean is an expansive, wild and desolate coastline. The raw beauty of the landscapes attracts a particular kind of traveller who enjoys camping in the rough and the solitude of going off-road. It's here that you'll find soul-replenishing hideaways like Brand-se-Baai and Skaapvlei among the many remote bays and inlets.

PENINSULA HOPEFIELD

Surrounded by delicate fynbos, high grade honey and fossils

Hopefield is situated on the R45 about 130km from Cape Town and nestles on the banks of the Zoute River. It was founded in 1853 and was originally developed as a church community for wheat and sheep farmers. More than 500 species of fynbos has attracted bees to the area and it is well known for its high grade honey. In the heart of fynbos country, the town and surrounds boasts with spectacular wildflower displays in August and September. Fossil deposits, together with a cast of the renowned 'Saldanha Man' are on display at the Museum.

A rugged, rocky coastline with small, sandy bays tucked in between make the landscape of Jacobsbaai both picturesque and unique

Jacobsbaai is well known for its abundant crayfish and is popular amongst fishermen in search of local fish species. The hamlet actually comprises seven little bays, each with distinct personality. Kwaaibaaai is popular amongst surfers, while Toothrock and Bamboesbaai are renowned for diving, fishing and crayfishing. Smalbaai is popular with Oystercatchers and cormorants sunning on the rocks and Mauritzbaai can be awash with hundreds of terns roosting on the rocks in the shallow waters. The sandy beach of Hospital Bay is ideal for swimming and sunning. The bay's unusual name is from the 1800s when ships dropped off their sick to be quarantined here before reaching Cape Town.

The quaint West Coast-style cottages in Jacobsbaai form part of the charm of the West Coast and each year the wildflowers explode into a profusion of color. Enjoy boardsailing, kayaking, diving and angling, or do some dolphin- and Southern Right whale watching. Follow the scenic hiking trails, including the 17-kilometre trail between Swartriet and Tietiesbaai while drinking in the magnificent scenery surrounding the magnificent bays.

NAMAQUA WESTCOAST KLAWER AND TRAWAL

The landscape surrounding the villages of Klawer and Trawal falls across low, undulating hills where farmland and fertile river banks adjoin arid scrubland. Likewise, slow accompanies fast in a place you can take it all in on a slow drive or join one of the seasonal river rafting expeditions down nearby Doring River.

Trawal is the southern gateway to the Namaqua West Coast, and lies on the Olifants River. The settlement's economy is largely based on table grape farming.

Nearby Klawer is home to amongst others the Klawer wine cellar. It developed around the railway station servicing the Olifants River Valley and got its name from the Afrikaans word for sorrel. Most of the surrounding farms, vineyards, orchards and fields are irrigated with water supplied by the Olifants River Irrigation Scheme.

Their shared histories are tied by the gradual opening of trade routes. The coming of the railway in 1914 was one of the events that sparked intensive farming into life. For a decade, the station at Klawer was the end of the line in the rail connection between Cape Town and the Namaqua West Coast.

SWARTLAND KORINGBERG

A safe and peaceful village lifestyle, not too far from the city lights.

This peaceful village lies 6km off the N7, 112km north from Cape Town. It was originally named Warren's Camp after the resident engineer responsible for laying the railway line in the early 19th century.

It is essentially a wheat and sheep farming town, but the area also boasts well-known grape farms and a horse stud. Horse-riding, hiking and mountain-biking trails snake through the ruggedly beautiful surrounds and the area has also grown in popularity among paragliders. Misverstand Dam on the Bergrivier is about 16km from Koringberg and offers canoeing, swimming, fishing and water-skiing. One can also take a sunset boat trip down the river with its abundance of birdlife, before pitching a tent or booking into a chalet for a peaceful sleep.

CEDERBERG LAMBERT'S BAY

The name Lambert's Bay conjures up visions of Bird Island, Khoi Rock art, a wealth of seafood and myriad sun-sea-and-sand activities.

Just two hours' scenic drive from Cape Town and 60km West of Clanwilliam, this seafood mecca, in the heart of crayfish country, attracts holidaymakers, weekenders and day-trippers.

View gannets, cormorants and seals at Bird Island. Seashell paved hiking trails, Jackal Creek Route and beach walks to Muisboskerm and doorspring. Lambertsbay also has a beautiful harbor dating back to the fishing industry.

After a refreshing day's hiking or 4x4 trailing, relax at one of our open-air seafood restaurants for a feast of seafood with our local wines.

PENINSULA LANGEBAAN

Appropriately referred to as the 'Jewel of the West Coast', the picturesque town of Langebaan hugs the shores of the Langebaan Lagoon.

A scenic one-hour drive from Cape Town, it is both a haven of tranquility and the hub of water sports and activities. The vast open landscapes, array of fauna and flora, delectable seafood, breathtaking azure-blue waters, pristine white sandy beaches and a rich historical heritage, holds the promise of a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

With almost year-round sunny weather and safe water conditions, this is a world-renowned mecca for kite surfers, wind surfers, kayakers, fishermen and yachtsmen.

A major attraction is the 30 000-hectare West Coast National Park which borders the south side of the lagoon.

Enjoy a round of golf at the 10-hole golf club, or pamper yourself with holistic beauty treatments, or browse around the many interesting shops offering curios, sports gear, holiday and fashion wear and arts and crafts. Horse-riding is a popular outdoor activity and viewing the town from the water's edge is a must. Be sure to book a cruise on the multi-hued lagoon. After a day of sun-sea-and-sand, try your luck in the casino, or enjoy live entertainment at the one of the popular places in Langebaan.

CEDERBERG LEIPOLDTVILLE

Leipoldville, a very small historical town, ideally situated to use as a base or stay over from where to explore the surrounding West Coast towns.

North - east of Elands Bay en route to Graafwater, lies the quaint village of Leipoldville next to the Langvleirivier. The town was established in 1905 when a new Dutch Reformed Church congregation came into being. Leipoldville was named after Reverend Friederich Leipoldt, the then minister at Clanwilliam and father of physician, poet and author, C Louis Leipoldt. Leipoldville is in the heart of the 'Sandveld', one of the main potato producing areas in South Africa. The region is popular for its challenging 4x4 trails.

NAMAQUA WESTCOAST LUTZVILLE & KOEKENAAP

The area around Lutzville was originally known as Vlermuisklip, a reference to a rocky overhang near the town called Vleermuijsklip. The cave was often used by early travellers as a shelter, and was first named by Pieter Everaerts in 1661. Other visitors included Governor Simon van der Stel, and Pieter van Meerhof, who was the first European to reach the Troe-Troe River near Vanrhynsdorp. British soldiers also used the shelter during the SA War (1899-1902).

The town Lutzville was established in 1923 and named after Johan Lutz, an irrigation engineer who worked on the Clanwilliam Dam and also surveyed the Lutzville area for agricultural development. The town has a population of just over 5 000 and services a farming community that produces wine and cultivates beans and tomatoes for the canning industry.

Lutzville's popular visitor sites includes: Vleermuijsklip Rock, and Golf Course.

The Sishen-Saldanha railway bridge over the Olifants River is worth a brief stop on your journey too. Completed in 1975, supported by 22 pillars that each extend 45m into the river bed.

Nearby lies the small village with the memorable name of Koekenaap. It was first settled in 1928. While various legends as to the source of its name exist, the truth has been lost in time.

SWARTLAND MALMESBURY

Malmesbury, the pulsating 'Heart of the Swartland', is just 40 minutes scenic drive from Cape Town and enjoys a Mediterranean-type climate.

Despite its tranquil setting, Malmesbury has a bustling business centre and an active informal sector. In winter, or 'green season', swathes of green wheat fields and yellow canola fields blanket the countryside. The sandy, marsh and Renosterveld vegetation erupts into a kaleidoscope of colour in spring and can be viewed between June and September.

For the energetic outdoor enthusiast, there are 4x4 trails, game drives, nature drives, clay pigeon shooting and mountain-biking. For the gourmand there are several fine restaurants and wine cellars.

Beautifully maintained and restored historic buildings along the “Historic Walkabout Route” are of interest to historians, architects and tourists alike. Tranquil Malmesbury is the ideal getaway destination.

A FAITHFUL FOLLOWING THE MISSION STATIONS

There are nine Mission Station villages on the Cape West Coast: Ebenhaezer, Elandskloof, Goedverwacht, Papendorp, Troe-Troe in Vanrhynsdorp, Rietpoort, Vergenoeg in Vredendal, Wittewater and Wupperthal.

EBENHAEZER DUTCH REFORM MISSION CHURCH

TEL: 027 201 3376

The Rhenish Missionary Associate was one of many international associations that came to South Africa to do missionary work. The 'Vereinigten Rheinischen Mission Gesellschaft' was founded in 1828.

After the withdrawal of the Rhenish Church in 1890, the mission station was taken over by the domestic Missionary Associate of the DR Church. Ebenhaezer means 'stone of help'. The community was under the leadership of the church until the Ebenhaezer Transitional Council was established, after which it was managed by a Municipal Council.

ELANDSKLOOF

TEL: 022 921 3210

In 1881 the Dutch Reformed Church established a mission station 13km from Citrusdal. In 1961 the church sold the land and the inhabitants were scattered, after having been a self-sufficient community for almost a century. After the change of government in 1994, a land reform policy was put in place and by 1996 the Elandsklowers succeeded in getting their original land back.

GOEDVERWACHT MORAVIAN CHURCH

TEL: 022 912 4410

Goedverwacht was established in 1881 as a Moravian Mission station. The land originally belonged to a widower farmer, Hendrik Schalk Burger. After the emancipation his slave Maniesa, (originally from India), her five children and son-in-law remained on the farm and took care of him until his death. Maniesa and her children inherited the farm with the proviso that, when the last of her children had passed away, their descendants sell the farm and divide the proceeds. The farm was sold to Moravian Missionaries.

PAPENDORP MISSIONARIES

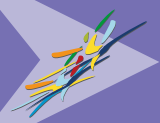

TEL: 027 201 3376

Papendorp, historically a Moravian Mission station is a small fishing hamlet nestled between the cold Atlantic Ocean and the Olifants River Estuary. Originally known as "Viswater" (fishing water) the indigenous communities who settled in the area in the 17th century depended on their surroundings as their main source of income. Fishermen brought their catch to the salt pans around Papendorp for preservation giving the hamlet its name.

Shell middens and tools found adjacent to the salt pans are proof that the Khoisan inhabited the area originally. The mission station was settled in the 1820's (the folklore: The Missionaries travelled from Wuppertal to the coast and fell in love with Viswater where the Olifants River meets the sea).

TROE -TROE ZENDING AND MISSION OF THE LITTLE FLOWER

Reflecting the region's rich history of missionary work, Vanrhynsdorp is home to the only catholic church where original Afrikaans inscriptions appear alongside its murals. The restored church still has its original wooden benches; organ dating from the early 1900's; and, fountain. The closing down of this once flourishing Mission Station during the 20th century tells a sad story. It now operates as a wedding venue with accommodation and restaurant facilities.

A FAITHFUL FOLLOWING THE MISSION STATIONS

Contact Letsatsi Lodge for more information 027 219 2828

In 1874 the Troe-Troe Mission Congregations (Uniting Reformed Church) was established after the name of Trutro homestead was changed to 'Het Gesticht' – the meeting place for the first Dutch Reformed Congregation.

RIETPOORT CATHOLIC CHURCH

TEL: 027 642 7335 / TEL: 027 219 1552

Rietpoort was established by a Dutch Catholic Missionary, Father Cornelius van der Westeinde, who arrived here in 1913. He spent the first 18 months in a cave outside the town and his first ministry was held in the open air. A beautiful cathedral, where Mass is still celebrated today, was inaugurated in 1937.

VERGENOEG CATHOLIC CHURCH,

VREDENDAL TEL: 027 201 3376

In 1935 Reverend Archambaud bought the farm Vergenoeg and established a school in the grounds. After secession from the Vanrhynsdorp congregation, the Mission Station was handed over to Reverend H. Klein. Soon the school became too crowded and funds were raised to construct the church that was finally inaugurated in 1956. It is an architectural jewel with towers that can be seen from afar and is a favourite wedding venue.

WITTEWATER MORAVIAN CHURCH

TEL: 022 912 4210

German Moravian missionaries established Wittewater ('white waters') in the early 19th century. The village nestles on the slopes of the Piketberg Mountain and was run as a single unit with the nearby Goedverwacht Mission. Some of the original whitewashed and thatched houses have recently been restored.

WUPPERTHAL MORAVIAN MISSION

TEL: 027 492 8001

Wupperthal is situated about 75 km from Clanwilliam in the remote Tra-Tra valley on the edge of the Cederberg Wilderness Area. The town dates back to 1830 and was established by German Rhenish missionaries, Baron Theobold Von Wurmb and Johann Gottlieb Leipoldt, a shoemaker by trade and grandfather of the famous South African poet, Louis Leipoldt. Attractions in the village include a shoe factory, established by Leipoldt to create jobs and is still operational. The unique local Rooibos tea factory is operational during the summer months. The historical church building, workshops and school are worth a visit. Wupperthal boasts a popular off-road 4x4 route and is a haven for hikers and bikers.

SWARTLAND MOORREESBURG

The 'Breadbasket of the West Coast', in more than one way.

Moorreesburg is valued as much for its wheat industry as for the warmth and friendliness of the locals. Just 40 minutes from mountains to coast, it is the perfect base from which to explore the region and the perfect getaway for weekends and holidays.

Visit the 11-circuit labyrinth in the park to relax body and soul, or the Wheat Industry Museum, one of only two of its kind in the world, where you can also see wheat fossils found in an Egyptian Pharaoh's Tomb. For the more energetic there is clay pigeon shooting, water sports on the Berg River and Misverstand Dam, golf and hiking trails.

Now is your opportunity to indulge in mouth-watering traditional Swartland cuisine, accompanied by a glass of fine Swartland wine. The annual Agricultural Show is a festival for the whole family and well worth a visit.

PENINSULA PATERNOSTER

Romance and peace, seafood and strolls along the beach

Paternoster, meaning 'Our Father', ostensibly took its name from the heartfelt prayers of shipwrecked Portuguese sailors.

Although life is still closely associated with the sea and fishing industry, it is to this historic and peaceful little fishing village where the traveller comes to relax. It is a virtual paradise with miles of isolated white sandy beaches, romantic sunsets, some of the best seafood on the West Coast, wildflowers in spring and the Cape Columbine Nature Reserve.

Try your hand at kayaking, kite surfing and kite flying, or enjoy the scenic hiking trails. Explore the art Route in Paternoster, Walk the route, view extraordinary artworks and meet the artists.

The Columbine Nature Reserve is home to the well-known 'Tietesbaai' and the last manned lighthouse in South Africa. Whales and dolphins visit the bay throughout the year and spring dons a kaleidoscope of veld flowers.

BERGRIVIER PIKETBERG

An area of contrast and unexpected beauty that traverses rugged mountains and shelters bountiful valleys. The beauty is magnified by the unexpectedness of it all.

The perfect way to view the town, which is nestled among undulating wheat fields, canola fields, vineyards, fruit farms and rich fynbos, is from the top of the Piket Mountain. Wind your way along the Versfeld Pass, through acres of pear, apple and peach orchards, to the top of the mountain. Breathe in the fresh mountain air and the scent of wild herbs, while enjoying panoramic views that extend from the West Coast to Table Mountain.

Pop in at the fully furnished 'house museum' with its archives or old Synagogue hosting the town history. Also pay a visit to the first iron bridge in the Cape Colony that stretched a total of 110 meters (347 G) over the Berg River. Finish off the day with a delightful meal at any of the local restaurants.

Piketberg activities include wine tasting, hiking, mountain-biking, bird watching, canoeing, 4x4, and fishing, to name a few.

ATTRACTIONS

Cannon at Piketberg High School - used to warn locals of the approach of the Khoi-San and to alert incoming ships to sell fresh produce - Tel 022 913 1134

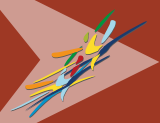

Die Brug - The bridge was erected in 1863.

This 110 meter (347 G) single steel girder bridge fits the Berg River perfectly, but was not intended to be used over the Berg River at all, but in Australia.

Piketberg Museum - fully furnished 'house museum' with its archives.

Tel 022 913 2177 | info@piketbergmuseum.co.za

Versfeld Pass - Completed in 1954 and tarred in 1958

BERGRIVIER PIKETBERG

CULTURE - HISTORICAL

Piketberg Historic Route - Discover historic Piketberg by following this route through town. Take a trip through the town viewing historic buildings with some of them dating back to the 1800's. For enquiries or maps contact the Tourism office on 022 913 2063 | piketberg@bergriviertourism.co.za. Stops on the route include:

Dutch Reformed Church - Work commenced on the building in 1880. Church designed by Carl Otto Hager - Tel 022 913 1750.

Old Hotel in Church Street - Built as the 'Commercial Hotel' in 1895 the hotel was originally owned by Laurie and Polly Weinrich.

The Katzeff House (cnr Hoof & Monument Street). - Considerably altered during the late Victorian period, parts of the building date back to the 1840's. In the late 1800's it was used as a Hotel and much enlarged. The corner 'stoepkamer' (with the diamond window) was for a time the Post Office.

Police Station (Voortrekker Street) - Originally built in 1936, the building has retained its classical façade despite successive modernizations of the Police Station behind it.

Sherriff's Office (Balju) (cnr. Kerk & Voortrekker Street) - Built in 1926.

The Old Bioscope (Voortrekker Street Nr. 47) - Built in the early 1920's as one of the 1st cinemas in the area, it was severely damaged in a fire.

Piquet Hill (Waterkant Street Nr. 12) - Listed as a National Monument in 1993. Originally the residence of the 1st magistrate and civil commissioner of Piketberg (1848-1854), Captain John Montgomery Hill.

The Coach House (Waterkant Street Nr. 18). - Listed as a National Monument in 1993.

Piketberg Cultural Historical Museum & The Old Synagogue (Kerk Street 12&14) - The Museum is housed in a late Edwardian-style house adjacent to the Old Synagogue – Built in 1925 by Mr. Andras Simon - Tel 022 913 2177.

The Mission Church (cnr Kerk & Loop Street). - Built in 1908.

The Historic Graveyard (Die Trek Street) - The graveyard contains the graves of townspeople, dating back to the mid 19th century and includes many of the original family's graves.

BERGRIVIER PORTERVILLE

An unspoilt town offering diversity, hospitality and authenticity

Porterville is a picturesque town on the slopes of the beautiful Olifantsrivier Mountains at the foot of Voorberg. The area is famous for the rarest of flowers, the Disa Uniflora. It is the only place in South Africa where one can see fields of these flowers in nature, the rarest being the Sulphur yellow disa, which has been found only in one small colony in Porterville.

The Dasklip Pass takes one to the mountain and the hiking trails, to places called De Hel and De Tronk which reveal dramatic rock formations and an abundance of flora and fauna. De Hel is one of the largest natural rock pools in South Africa and the Waterfall Trail leads where waterfalls plummet down towards rock pool and undulating wheat fields.

BERGRIVIER REDELINGHUYS

The potato capital of the Sandveld offering hiking- and 4x4 trails

The peaceful village of Redelinghuys lies hidden between patches of blue gum trees and is surrounded by a rocky hillside. The Verlorenvlei RAMSAR site, stretches from the upper reaches at Redelinghuys 30km north and flows into the Atlantic Ocean at Elands Bay. It is renowned for its prolific birdlife, indigenous fynbos, flora & fauna and unspoiled nature.

Redelinghuys is not only known as the Potato Capital of the Sandveld, but it is also the area where Rooibos grows, and where this unique herbal tea is freely available.

Various hiking trails meander through spectacular scenery and ancient rock formations and an exciting re-introduction of wildlife is currently underway which will further enhance the region as a "get-up-close-and-personal with nature" destination.

SWARTLAND RIEBEEK VALLEY

Discover this secret valley, a place of captivating charm and creative energy

The quaint villages of Riebeek Kasteel and Riebeek West lies at the foot of Kasteelberg, about 20 km from Malmesbury, just off the R46, surrounded by orchards, vineyards and olive groves. The area is better known as the Riebeek Valley, home to many artists, wine makers and gourmet chefs. It is also deservingly called the Shiraz Valley, as it is well known for producing world beating Shiraz grapes and -wines.

Owing to a pleasant Mediterranean climate with hot summers and mild and pleasant winters, Riebeek Valley is ideal to visit at any time of the year. The Kasteelberg is 974m high and has unique flora with a mix of Sandveld and Table Mountain fynbos.

The Riebeek Valley essentially offers a place of relaxation, a place where one can enjoy the countryside at one's own pace. It is the epitome of country life ~ breathing in fresh, green air and rejuvenating the body and soul, coupled with excellent accommodation options, active or relaxing activities and restaurants that cater for a variety of tastes and preferences.

ROOIBOS TEA

Uniquely Ours

If there is one product you have to acquaint yourself with when visiting the Weskus, it is delicious, caffeine-free Rooibos tea, which has its origins in the region.

Rooibos is used to make a refreshing and less bitter herbal drink than most other tea infusions. When local people first discovered that the fine, needle-like leaves of the plant made a tasty, aromatic tea, they harvested them with sickles. The leaves were then bruised and left to ferment in heaps, before being laid out to dry under the warm African sun. It was a Russian settler to the Cape and descendant of a famous tea family, Benjamin Ginsberg, who realised its potential.

Since then, Rooibos has gained popularity in the worldwide market. Rooibos is believed to be an excellent source of antioxidants. It's packed with health-boosting polyphenols and contains a unique antioxidant called aspalathin. Rooibos can also help to fight allergies by boosting the production of cytochrome P450, an important enzyme that helps to metabolise allergens. Anecdotal evidence also suggests that Rooibos acts as a digestive aid and anti-spasmodic, thereby relieving stomach cramps and colic in babies, soothes skin irritations when applied directly to the affected area and boosts the immune system.

Rooibos is virtually kilojoule-free and contains no colourants, additives or preservatives. Try using Rooibos when making fruit drinks or use it in your baking and cooking for an exceptional, unique flavor.

PENINSULA SALDANHA

A picturesque seaside town on the northern corner of the largest natural bay in South Africa, where every effort is made to balance industry in the region with the eco-fragility of the area.

From the Adam & Eve rock formation situated on the hill above Saldanha, you can see as far as Table Mountain and at Hoedjieskoppie there is a vantage point which provides panoramic views of the bay and surrounds. The bay's ideal location makes it a paradise for water-sport enthusiasts and from late July to mid-December, visitors flock to the area to watch the mighty Southern Right whales that visit the bay annually.

The local economy is strongly dependent on fishing, mussels, seafood and the harbour trade, as well as an established steel industry and to this day it still plays a major import-export role for industries of the region.

With strong historic military links, Saldanha is also host to a naval training base and the South Africa Military Academy and the popular SAS Saldanha Nature Reserve offers a multi-hued display of wildflowers during late winter and spring and is a bird-lovers paradise.

PENINSULA ST HELENA BAY

The bay of bays - an all-year-round destination for outdoor and nature lovers and an ideal base for exploring outlying areas.

Eighteen bays, stunning sea views and sparkling surf make St Helena Bay a very special destination. Fed by the nutrient-rich Benguela Current, it is one of the world's prime fishing areas and its waters provide a valuable livelihood to many locals.

Imposing granite boulders provide a stunning backdrop to the town and beautiful. Endemic Heaviside's dolphins, as well as dusky and common dolphins visit the bay in search of food, and the calm waters give shelter to the southern right whales that come to mate and calve in the second half of the year. Humpback and killer whales are also frequent visitors.

St Helena Bay is a birdwatcher's paradise and being at the southernmost point of the migratory route from Europe and the Steppes of Russia makes it a must-visit spot for twitchers.

After good winter rains, the veld comes alive with the vibrant colours of spring flowers. Combine this with the opportunity to enjoy the local women's sleight of hand as they "vlek snoek" in the harbour - fascinating to watch - and their cultural heritage and quirky, humorous vernacular is quite intriguing.

NAMAQUA WESTCOAST STRANDFONTEIN

Think ice-cream and sandcastles; long strolls on the beach and family fun.

Strandfontein has a population of less than 200 permanent residents, but bursts at the seams come holiday time. Most of the houses are holiday homes, B&Bs and guesthouses.

Strandfontein isn't just a summer destination though. During late winter and early spring the town's sandy cliffs provide excellent lookout points for whale watchers. The Wandering Whale Labyrinth, just south of the town, is a place for solace and contemplation built that features a path lined with blue mussel shells and pink rose quartz.

SWARTLAND WINE AND OLIVES

The Swartland has always been a place of endless possibilities. Looking at its undulating valleys, dense with vineyards and olive groves, you realise this is true farm country. This is heightened by the sweeping wheat fields and expansive open blue sky above this diverse pocket.

The unpredictable slopes and ascents of the Paardeberg, Riebeek Valley, Malmesbury and Berg River are home to a diversity of soil types (granite, shale, clay and slate). It's a winemaking region characterised by dryland bush vines and expressive terroir.

The Swartland Wine & Olive Route officially turned 35 years old on 06 March 2021, although its true history stretches much further back to the late 1600s – the time of frontier farmers and wagons, of wild lands and untapped potential. Since the 1800s, winemakers have been cultivating bush vines here as a way to maximise on the mild Mediterranean climate.

These days, a crop of young winemakers is honouring this legacy by striving to make increasingly region-specific wines using innovative techniques. Winemakers have banded together to create the Swartland Independent Producers (SIP): 'The coming together of a group of like-minded producers working to express a true sense of place in the wines of the Swartland.'

NAMAQUA WESTCOAST VANRHYNSDORP

The gateway to Namaqualand is Vanrhynsdorp. Here too, is the path to the Hantam Karoo and the Cederberg. This is famous as flower-land, but there's so much more to see.

Vanrhynsdorp is situated on the Troe-Troe River and was once an outspan for travellers. The settlement became known as Troe-Troe, and was renamed Vanrhynsdorp in 1881 in honour of local dignitary Petrus Benjamin van Rhyn. The town is a commercial centre for the region and services a large sheep farming district.

Places worth a visit include the town's first church, called Het Gesticht; Trutro House that was built in 1751; the old gaol, which incorporates a succulent nursery; and, a former horse-powered mill.

The Victor Smith Memorial outside the town is an important marker in South Africa's aviation history. Smith (1913-2001) played a pioneering role in developing African air routes. In 1932 when he was only 19-years-old, Smith attempted to break the Cape Town-to-London flying record of 8½ days. The following year he tackled the London-to-Cape Town record, but crash-landed some 27km from Vanrhynsdorp, on the farm Quaggaskop. He still made history - his was the first successful forced landing on South African soil.

BERGRIVIER VELDDRIF

(Including Dwarskersbos, Port Owen and Laaiplek)

Where your soul unwinds

Welcome to Velddrif . . . with its age old traditions, where the stars shine brighter, where the sea and river meet, fish abound and tranquillity resounds in the call of the birds.

The meandering Berg River reflects the tranquility of this fishing village. A birder's mecca. Peace, silence, tranquillity and lots of space to explore are only some of the terms to describe the beautiful West Coast. And if you throw in the Carinus Bridge, Bokkoms, Flamingos, Fisherfolk and stunning long pristine beaches, then you know you're in Velddrif!

PENINSULA VREDENBURG

A place where peace reigns

Vreden means 'peace', but its origins were anything but peaceful. In the 18th century, a fresh water spring between the farms Heuningklip and Witteklip caused strife between the respective owners, and it became known as Twisfontein ('quarrel spring'). As the strife continued, it was renamed Prosesfontein ('lawsuit spring').

The Dutch Reformed Church came to the rescue in 1875 when they built the first church near the disputed spring and promptly renamed the town Vredenburg (peaceful town).

The Twisfontein Monument is the sole reminder of the renowned water 'war'. These days Vredenburg is the transportation and commercial hub of the West Coast and administrative centre of the Saldanha Bay Municipality. The only argument you're likely to have in modern-day Vredenburg is about what activities to participate in.

NAMAQUA WESTCOAST VREDENDAL

As the region's largest town, Vredendal is the go-to place for stocking up whether you're a visitor on a road-trip or a farmer on remote land. Its economy is based on agriculture and mining of minerals from sand.

As you explore, look out for the produce - grapes, potatoes, tomatoes, onions, pumpkins, watermelons and sweet melons: all made possible by the development of the water-transporting Olifants River Irrigation Scheme. Vredendal has one of the country's largest co-operative wine cellars, a modern grape juice concentrate plant, and thriving dried fruit and a food canning industries.

The town was originally known as Bakkeley Plaats, apparently due to an altercation between the Dutch and the Khoi in 1668. Once peace had been declared, the name was changed to Vreedensdaal - valley of peace. Places of interest include Namaqua Wines – one of the largest wineries in South Africa, and the old Roman Catholic Church.

CAPE WESKUS PALAENTOLOGY WEST COAST FOSSIL PARK

Off the R45, north-west of Hopefield.

Fossils were first discovered at Langebaanweg in the late 1950's during phosphate mining operations.

Since then it has been estimated that this deposit contains the greatest diversity of 5 million year-old fossils in the world. These fossils have attracted the interest of leading scientists from abroad who, together with local researchers, have generated over a hundred publications relating to their discoveries.

Some important finds include Agriotherium africanum, the first bear ever found in Africa, south of the Sahara; Homiphoca capensis, an extinct true seal; four extinct species of penguin; an extinct short-necked giraffe, and three different species of elephant including an early type of mammoth, Mammuthus subplanifrons.

The Park has been proclaimed a National Heritage Site in an effort to protect the fossil deposits for posterity.

Regular guided tours are available daily, except on Christmas Day, New Year's Day and Good Friday.

The Park also offers pre-booked kiddie's activities, gift shop and restaurant.

Open Hours 09:00 - 15:00
Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays & Saturdays

Weekends and Public Holidays 09:00 - 15:00.

Tour times: 11:00, 12:30 & 14:00

WEST COAST NATIONAL PARK

This 30 000ha national park, with its pristine golden beaches, stretches endlessly into the early morning mist and is home to thousands of seabirds. The salt marshes and wetlands area hosts up to 60 000 water birds and waders that feed on tiny invertebrates that live in the mud. It is a birdwatcher's paradise, where up to 100 species can be seen in a day and bird hides at Geelbek, Abrahamskraal and Seeberg make it possible to study our feathered friends at close quarters. The Park is world renowned as the place where 'Eve's Footprint' was discovered; one of the earliest signs of human existence on mother earth about 117 000 years ago. The region's history is on display at the West Coast Fossil Park, close to Langebaanweg.

The park includes Langebaan Lagoon; a veritable water sport enthusiasts' paradise. A section is reserved for sailboats, kayaking, and wind surfing, but no power boats or angling is allowed in this area.

During Spring the Strandveld transforms in sweeping carpets of multi-hued wildflowers that burst into bloom after the winter rains.

Postberg boasts the most impressive blooms and is also home to several species of antelope, African wild cat, caracal and bat-eared fox. Between July and December, be on the lookout for whales in the waters off Tsaarsbank and the Atlantic coastline. There are scenic mountain-bike and cycle trails; hiking trails; picnic sites at Kraalbaai and Tsaarsbank. Flower and game viewing can be done from your own vehicle during August and September in Postberg. The lagoon is ideal for kite-boarding, kayaking and various water sports. Kraalbaai is a sheltered beach suitable for swimming for the whole family. Nine marked trails criss-cross the fynbos and you can explore rock formations, caves, San rock art and rock pools at your leisure.

WEST COAST WINE ROUTE

A VERY SPECIAL WINE ROUTE

Crowds are for New Year, not wine tasting. On the West Coast Wine Route, expect an intimate and fulfilling experience like no other - from charming, family-run farms in unique locations to some of South Africa's most famous mega-wineries.

Quality is a hallmark of the wine, a fact increasingly being recognised by expert assessments, both locally and overseas. West Coast wines regularly feature as medal winners, enjoying consistent high-level ratings in authoritative publications. On the wine route, you'll be able to appreciate just where these champion wines are made and even purchase most of them right at the cellar door.

GIANTS OF THE OCEAN WHALES AND DOLPHINS

The Cape Weskus is a rich haven for several species of whales and dolphins.

The most common whales spotted are Southern Right, Humpbacks and Bryde's whales. The annual migration to the Weskus draws thousands of fascinated whale-watchers between July and December. Can you imagine the magic of watching a new-born calf being raised above the water to gasp its first breath of air, before being gently returned to its mother's side beneath the water? Courting pairs breach and lobtail or slap the water with their enormous flippers. The Southern Right whale is distinguishable from other species by the absence of a dorsal fin, and the v-shaped blow which is the spout from the blowhole as the whale surfaces. The head is covered with callosities (pale, wart-like patches), that are inhabited by barnacles. The whales are monitored by the Whale Unit of the Mammal Research Institute of the University of Pretoria and the work is carried out at the military area of SAS Saldanha. Whales can be watched along the West Coast from Yzerfontein, West Coast National Park, Langebaan Lagoon, Cape Columbine, St. Helena Bay, Lambertsbay, Doringbaai and Strandfontein. Visitors must be made aware that, by law, no-one is allowed to come closer than 300 meters of these magnificent animals. - www.awhaleofaheritagerroute.co.za

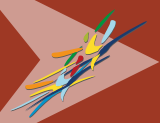

WHEATFIELDS

The Swartland and Bergvliet regions are the oldest wheat-growing areas in South Africa and also hosts the Wheat Industry Museum in Moorreesburg which is one of only two in the world. The history and production of wheat are being depicted here and one can relive the history of wheat from the days of the Pharaohs in Egypt up to modern days. One of Jan van Riebeeck's first undertakings after he arrived in the Cape in 1652, was to grow wheat to supply food to passing ships and eventually, the Voortrekkers also took wheat on their journeys inland, planting it wherever they settled. Most of the wheat is produced for bread and each year the region celebrates the history of wheat during Harvest Day. On this special day, farmers harvest with implements of a bygone era. Agri-tourism and Agricultural tours are very popular, especially among farmers from overseas countries.

BERGRIVIER WITTEWATER

On the slopes of the Piketberg Mountain the history of this mission station awaits.

This village is on the slopes of the Piketberg Mountain near Piketberg and offers rock art sites and wild flowers. It has many historical buildings and thatched, white-washed houses with brightly painted windows. German Moravian missionaries established it in the early part of the 19th century as a mission station, run in conjunction with the nearby Goedverwacht Mission.

Though Wittewater and Goedverwacht are two separate stations, they were so intertwined in their history that they seem to form one great mission station. Complete separation seems to have been effected in 1964

WHAT TO DO

Cederberg Heritage Route

The Cederberg Heritage Route is the collective name for 6 walking trails in the Cederberg Mountains ranging from 2 to 8 nights. The trails make this beautiful area accessible to walkers who don't wish to bush camp. You sleep in simple community guest houses in the Moravian mission villages – where time seems to have stood still – as well as guesthouses in or near Clanwilliam. The trails are fully inclusive; you are escorted by local community guides whilst your bags are taken to the next night's stay. Accommodation is modest in the mission villages, with a group sharing bathroom facilities.

CEDERBERG WUPPERTHAL AND OTHER SETTLEMENTS

The Trails

Klein Krakadouw Trail

2 or 3 night easy trail ideal for a weekend trip & great for families.

Groot Krakadouw Trail

3 or 4 night route heading deeper into the Cederberg.

Wupperthal Trail

3 or 4 night route and it can include a hike up to Krakadouw peak.

Pakhuis Trail

stunning 3 or 4 night route, more suited to keen & active hikers.

Gabriel Trail

4 night remote trail in the central Cederberg.

Cederberg 100km

is an impressive 8 night trail following the spine of the Cederberg Mountains.

Cape West Coast Biosphere Reserve (NPC)

What is a Biosphere?

Biologically, a biosphere is made up of the parts of Earth where life exists – ALL ECOSYSTEMS.

A biosphere extends from the deepest root systems of trees, to the dark environments of the ocean trenches, to lush rain forests, high mountain tops and transitions zones like our biosphere where ocean and terrestrial ecosystems meet.

It can also be defined as the area of the planet where organisms live, including the ground and the air. An example of the biosphere is where life occurs on, above and below the surface of the Earth. The part of the Earth and its atmosphere capable of supporting life.

What is a Biosphere Reserve?

Biosphere Reserves are learning places for sustainable development. Each biosphere promotes solutions reconciling the conservation of biodiversity with its sustainable use.

Broadly defined, Biosphere Reserves are areas designated by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) as a member of the World Network of Biosphere Reserves.

Further defined, the designated area is a site of potential excellence to explore and demonstrate approaches to conservation and sustainable development on a regional scale for which global accolade is given to areas demonstrating excellence in sustainable development practice.

The Cape West Coast Biosphere Reserve (NPC) is one of 10 Biospheres in South Africa and the second to be designated by UNESCO. It stretches north from the Diep River in the City of Cape Town to the Berg River in the West Coast and covers 378 000 hectares of coastal lowland plains.

A Biosphere comprises of three components, namely the Core Area, the Buffer Zone and the Transitional Zone. These defined area/zones cannot survive without one another. It is also important to note that the Cape West Coast Biosphere Reserve (NPC) cannot function in isolation. Partnerships must be established with a wide range of stakeholders.

Darling Stagger

This trail route is made up of 2 legs, connected through a series of short transfers. The first leg, commences with a San guided tour at !Khwa ttu San Cultural Village and Continue for 8km through a Private Nature Reserve towards the sea and along the coast of Yzerfontein. The second leg, on day 2, is a 14km walk from !Khwa ttu across the beautiful farmlands of Darling Hills and down to Darling town itself. These meanders includes delicious meals and visits to historic farms for olive and wine or chocolate and toffee tastings.

Eve's Trail (Certified GREEN FLAG)

A walk amid the splendid scenery of the West Coast National Park following in the footsteps of Eve, the oldest human footprints ever discovered 117 000 years ago.

The 30Km hike stretches over 2.5 days in the Cape Floristic Region in West Coast National Park.

5 Bay Trail

The trail takes guest on a timeless journey through breath taking landscapes, tracing human harvesting of the sea. This 2.5 day trail is a 28km easy walk exploring five picturesque bays between the fishing and resort villages of Paternoster and Jacobsbaai. The Trails operates out of Paternoster where there is an extensive selection of outstanding sleeping and eating establishments with excellent West Coast cuisine. This trail offers a gentle outdoor challenge by day, delicious food and never to be forgotten people and conversations.

Wheels of Time

Take a mountain bike ride through time as you explore the rolling hills and coastal plains of the Cape West Coast Biosphere Reserve, on secondary roads. This 60Km over 2.5 day ride is aimed at recreational cyclists who are keen to experience the rugged roads and natural beauty of the West Coast from the seat of a bicycle. Destinations and overnight stops vary and the journey in between is filled with breath-taking scenery and pleasurable riding.

A support vehicle provides you with refreshments, exclusively prepared for you by local people and you can hop on board anytime you feel like taking it easy.
